In Memory of Baby Ella
Born 11 June 2005

In a baby castle, just beyond my eye
My baby plays with angel toys that money cannot buy.
Who am I to wish her back into this world of strife?
No, play on my baby, you have eternal life.

At night when all is silent and sleep forsakes my eyes,
I'll hear her tiny footsteps come running to my side.
Her little hands caress me so tenderly and sweet,
I'll breathe a prayer and close my eyes and embrace her in my sleep.

No, I have a treasure I rate above all other
I have known true glory—I am still her mother

A time to reflect .....

Reflecting on the work of Forget Me Not since it began five years ago when there was nothing like us in Cornwall and Baby Loss was hardly ever mentioned, I wanted to change that and also provide a new Baby Memorial Garden at Glynn Valley Crematorium near Liskeard. Within this new garden there is a special area dedicated to babies lost during pregnancy or at birth. To view photographs taken at the opening visit Events on the Web Site Menu and Media Gallery for a BBC Spotlight interview at the Gardens in 2007.

Three support groups were established across the county and one to one befriending visits in or outside the home, but these were not being used as envisaged. The same applies to National Baby Loss Charities where those needs are also not there. Our services are being constantly being re-evaluated and changed due to experience gained through insight of need.

Endless hours of hard work and dedication go on behind the scenes at Forget Me Not, but sadly not all our endeavours to improve services come to fruition through no fault of our own, but assurance goes to our supporters that our hard work never ceases.

Memory items have always been a priority for the charity and knowing these will mean so much, almost two years was spent developing beautiful sensitive memory boxes and gowns to be supplied free of charge to Treliske Hospital, who declined our offer.

For a while we were fortunate to have the opportunity of providing clay and producing deeply treasured framed 3D hand and footprints, but sadly later Treliske Hospital chose to stop our vital service. We were deeply saddened by the prevention of both memory items for parents at a devastating time, and this failed the most needy.

Our offer to provide and refurbish a new parents' room in the proposed new build to where maternity would be transferring, was declined for the reason of a bereavement room would already have been considered by the NHS Trust, and we felt refurbishing an existing room that would eventually close, would not be an effective use of our charity funds.

We continue to offer pencil illustrations drawn from babies photographs, providing a very personalised and unique keepsake.

From our hard work and planting the 'seeds of thought' others now carry on to improve services, including the provision of memory boxes and clay prints, leaving us free to develop more ideas and look at ways we can make a difference.

10,000 information leaflets are distributed across the county and replenished if there are changes, which will happen during 2010.

Our energy and focus is now concentrated on raising awareness on baby loss and looking at ways we can meet the ever changing needs of the community.

Kindest thoughts are with you all.
